

8 Multiple choice questions

1. Windows with hinges on the side, opens outward or inward along its entire length (like a door)

- A.
Column- Ionic
- B.
Bonneted Window
- C.
Casement Window
- D.
Bay Window

2. Thin, squared and finely cut stone laid horizontally on the facade of a wall

- A.
Cupola
- B.
Arch
- C.
Arcade
- D.
Ashlar

3. The most ornate, slender and sleek of the three types of columns

- A.
Column- Corinthian
- B.
Column- Ionic
- C.
Column- Doric
- D.
Clerestory

4. An exterior, projecting support for a wall to either strengthen it or resist a side thrust from an arch or roof

- A.
Buttress
- B.
Arch
- C.
Cupola
- D.
Balustrade

5. Arch is a set of wedge- shaped blocks (usually of stone) spanning an opening and to support loads from above

- A.
Arcade
- B.
Arch
- C.
Ashlar
- D.
Cupola

6. One of the oldest columns, found in classical architecture, they are the most plain of the three main types of columns

- A.
Clerestory
- B.
Column- Ionic
- C.
Column- Doric
- D.
Column- Corinthian

7. Molding at the top of the walls of a room, between the walls and ceiling. House eaves may also be called "cornices" if they are finished with decorative molding

- A.
Column- Doric
- B.
Cornice (Eave)
- C.
Bonneted Window
- D.
Arcade

8. Dormer with an arched roof, normally has an arched window

- A.
Bay Window
- B.
Cornice (Eave)
- C.
Casement Window
- D.
Bonneted Window

8 True/False questions

1. Wood, stone, or metal projection from a wall to support a weight, typically serves a decorative purpose

→ Bargeboard

- True
- False

2. A series of arches supported by columns or piers, either free- standing or attached to a wall

→ Arcade

- True
- False

3. A row of balusters (or small posts) topped by a rail, usually found on edge of stairs or roof

→ Buttress

- True
- False

4. Windows projecting from the wall to form an alcove of a room; usually created with 3 windows

→ Bay Window

- True
- False

5. Small structure, usually domed, on the top of a roof for observation or decoration

→ Ashlar

- True
- False

6. Identified by its large paired spiral scrolls and it has the tallest base of the three types of columns

→ Column- Doric

- True
- False

7. Richly decorated carved or cut- out designs that hangs under a gable

→ Ashlar

- True
- False

8. Windows between two roof levels that let in light and/ or ventilation

→ Clerestory

- True
- False